

DEFENSE SAYS PHILLIPS IS U. S. TRAITOR

Prosecution Chief Witness in Anderson Forgery Trial Also Called Blackmailer by Charles Whitman

SPLIT COMMISSION

Collector Says Dry League Superintendent Forced Him to Divide After Pay of Each Became Equal

New York, Jan. 22. — O. Bertall Phillips, chief prosecution witness in the forgery trial of William H. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of New York, today was characterized by former Governor Charles E. Whitman, principal defense counsel, as a traitor to his country, a blackmailer and an extortionist.

The attack, delivered in a barrage of alternate questions and accusations, caused a sensation in the courtroom, crowded to the doors for the second day of the trial. In the course of his denunciation the former governor accused the star witness of having attempted to "sell out" the league head to a half-score interests prohibited by the force opposing prohibition. Phillips left the stand facing another attack, as court was adjourned until tomorrow, with Whitman in the midst of his cross examination.

Brewers' Names Mentioned

Conspicuous among those mentioned as having been approached by Phillips for money in return for his promise to "deliver" Anderson were the Rockefellers, father and son, Henry J. Kallenbach, an official of the Fleischmann brewing interests and the National Brewers' association; a major of New York newspaper Colonel Jacob Ruppert, brewer and owner of the New York Yankees, and Ransom H. Gillett, chief counsel for the New York division of the association against the Prohibition Amendment. It was to the latter, Whitman charged, that Phillips, who said he now was a fund solicitor for the Young Men's Christian association, agreed to "deliver" Anderson.

The name of J. P. Morgan and Company was mentioned by Whitman in connection with his accusation that Phillips had, in 1916, been associated with several men who had purchased from an employee in the Morgan offices information relative to munition purchases by the allies and had thereafter sold the secrets to American munition interests.

Phillips Denies Treason Accusation

"Did you not, in addition to, abandoning your wife and six children, attempt to sell out your country?" the former governor thundered. The witness stammered, hesitated, then replied in the negative. Pressed by the attorney, he admitted having had business relations with some of the men later identified as having been concerned in the sale of the munition secrets, but pleaded that he knew nothing of their activities.

Phillips, the day's third witness, told, under questioning of Assistant District Attorney Fecora, of his employment by Anderson as a league fund solicitor in May, 1917.

"I told Anderson I would work on a 10 per cent commission basis," Phillips testified, "but he said he would have me sign a contract giving me a salary of 25 per cent of the first $25,000 I collected, with 10 per cent of every additional sum. Anderson told me he wanted to enter this agreement to tell the Rockefeller who had been told any league collector would be on a salary basis and not a commission arrangement."

Says Anderson Forced Split

"Later Anderson said to me: 'I get fifteen a year, and I won't let anybody in this organization get any more than I do, when your commissions come to more than that amount, you'll have to split with me, 50-50.' I agreed, because I had to in order to hold my job."

Phillips then related that the first commission split occurred in 1919, when he gave Anderson approximately $1,500. In 1920, however, his commissions totaled $18,592, he said. Without his knowledge, he explained, Anderson had his (Anderson's) share of the commission paid to him in checks drawn to himself by the league's assistant treasurer against Phillips salary account.

REDACTIONS ASSIGNED OFFICE

(By the Associated Press)
London, Jan. 22. — The labor government gave its sanction today to all redactions in the hands of the king of Denmark, following the entrance upon the high throne of prince Christian, and the ex-emption of seats between the monarch and the old cabinet and the new will be placed at the premier's official residence in Drottningstrade at noon tomorrow.

LEHIGH VALLEY MUST PAY MEN FOR CONTRACT LOSSES

Chicago, Jan. 22. — The Lehigh Valley Railroad company has been ordered to reimburse all employees who suffered a loss in wages and to reimburse those discharged when freight handlers on its line at New York and Brooklyn were either reduced in pay or discharged when this work was contracted out in February, 1922.

ENGINEERS OF N. Y. C. RECEIVE PAY INCREASES

Gains of 24 Cents in Passenger Service, 36 in Freight and 32 for Yardmen and Hostlers Obtained

RULES MODIFIED

Prolonged Conferences Show, Says Official, Desire by AM to "Cement Spirit of Cooperation"

New York, Jan. 2. — A wage increase of approximately five per cent has been agreed upon for 15,000 engineers and firemen of the New York Central lines.

Engineers, firemen, hostlers, and hostler helpers receive the following increases: Passenger service, 24 cents per 100 miles; freight service, 36 cents per 100 miles; yard and hostler services, 32 cents a day.

The settlement also provided for modification of certain schedule rules, the most important of which permits discontinuance, when stoker-fired locomotives are provided, of the requirement that men in freight service between Albany and Syracuse be relieved at Little Falls, and between Syracuse and Buffalo at Westmoreland.

The settlement also provided for discontinuance of arbitrary mileage allowances on the Albany-Syracuse line, and modification of arbitrary reporting time on the B. & A. P. & L. E. and Big Four.

Spirit of Cooperation Shown

The settlement was announced through the office of the vice president in an official statement which read:

"Although the conferences have been prolonged, they have demonstrated a desire on the part of both the management and the employees to cement the spirit of cooperation which has been such a marked characteristic of the New York Central management and the New York Central Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen and the Brotherhood of Railroad Firemen and Enginemen."

Liquor Enters in Dines-Geer Case

Police Testify Assistant Told Them Victim Kept Mabel Normand Drunk

Los Angeles, Jan. 22. — The liquor police today testified in the Dines-Geer shooting case hearing today to supply a motive for the shooting of George D. Dines, Denver oil man, at the hands of Horace A. Geer, chauffeur for Mabel Normand, film actress, New Year's night.

Two policemen from the witness stand described Geer's visit to the police station to report the shooting. One of them said that Geer declared he shot Dines because the latter had "jumped up" on him.

MANUFACTURERS FAIL TO PROVE SEVEN CHARGES

Only One of Eight Allegations of Associated Industries Against Labor Department Un-disposed of

SMITH GRILLS DALY

Official Gradually Modifies Claims — Claims Sufficient Evidence to Prove Remaining One

Albany, Jan. 22. — Eight charges of inefficiency and maladministration brought against the state department of labor by Associated Industries of New York State, Inc., an organization of employers and manufacturers, were disposed of one by one at a public hearing before Governor Smith in the capitol today, until, at the close of three hours' grilling, but one of them remained intact and ready for a further discussion at a continuation of the hearing scheduled for tomorrow.

That one, alleging delays in administration of the workmen's compensation act, can be supported by a mass of evidence which will be presented tomorrow, the governor was assured. The other seven allegations speedily melted down to a matter of record as the governor put question after question to nearly a score of officers and directors of Associated Industries who had been subpoenaed to appear before him to disclose their knowledge of the serious charges which had been made.

Within 10 minutes after the hearing had convened this morning, Arthur Sutherland of Rochester, former supreme court justice, counsel for Associated Industries, presented an amended list of charges, from which two dealing with the state insurance fund had been eliminated. These, it was later explained, had been found to be "incorrect statements."

Grilling Forces Retraction

As the hearing progressed, there developed several times verbal tiffs between Governor Smith and Mark A. Daly, executive secretary and legislative agent for Associated Industries, whom testimony showed to have written the letter of complaint, after he had accused the state of a "constitutional source," which he refused to disclose, although twice asked to do so by the governor.

For the major part of the afternoon session, Daly and the governor exchanged questions and answers that in many cases were amusing and twice brought loud bursts of laughter and even applause from the spectators who packed the executive chamber.

Insistent questioning on the part of the governor brought from Daly the admission that the "serious breakdown" of the labor department, which has been charged in the first paragraph of the letter of complaint, in reality applied to nothing else than the administration of workmen's compensation statutes. Further questioning brought from Daly a denial that "political domination" of the department under additional grilling, Daly finally admitted that the department was not completely dominated by political interests and that he guessed it was "rather an unfortunate phrase."

Says Department Overmaneuvered

As the charges were disposed of, the questions began to narrow down to the organization's opinion of "inefficiency" in the labor department. Half an hour of questioning and replies ended in Daly's statement that "it is my idea that the department of labor and workmen's compensation fund were overmaneuvered."

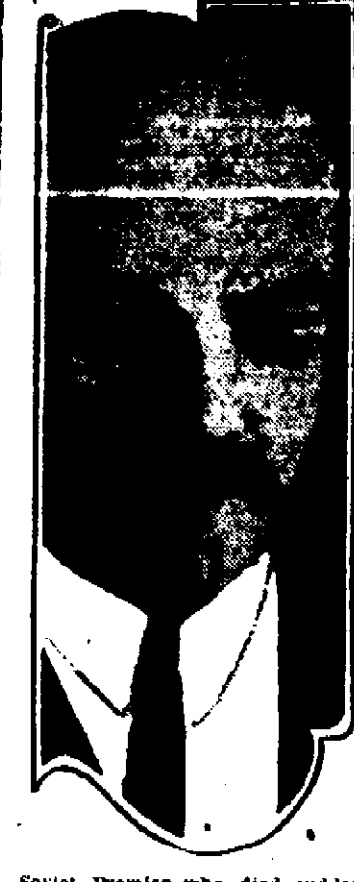

Industrial Commissioner Bernard L. Shientag followed Mr. Daly on the stand at the afternoon session.

The testimony of the industrial commissioner dealt for the most part with evidence of labor department administration, which he declared would show the falsity of charges made against it. After reviewing the work made possible with the augmented staff, he sought to disprove charges of political intrusion in selection of department officials. Eight names which had been specifically mentioned by Mr. Daly were taken up, one by one, and with one exception, they were found to have been civil service appointments.

ALBERT B. FALL AGAIN TO APPEAR BEFORE COMMITTEE

Law Officers at Hearing Yesterday — Conducting Own Probe — Will Act if Testimony Warrants Arrests

Washington, Jan. 22. — In the presence of law enforcement officers of the government, the senate Tea Pot Dome investigating committee took steps today again to call before it Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and Harry F. Sinclair, leasee of naval oil reserves in Wyoming.

A subpoena returnable next Friday was issued for Mr. Fall, now in New Orleans, and about whose name sensational charges in connection with the lease have centered recently. The committee informed counsel for Mr. Sinclair that it desired his appearance at the earliest possible date, after his attorney had expressed willingness to cable Mr. Sinclair to return from Europe.

The appearance of a representative of Attorney General Daugherty at the committee investigation was at the personal direction of President Coolidge, who has instructed the department of justice to take note on any irregularities or illegal actions on the part of any one which may develop in the course of the inquiry.

Law Officers Make Own Inquiry

A formal announcement from the department during the day said that law officers also were making investigations on their own account. The announcement added that while the department awaited the result of the recommendation, if any, of the committee, this did not mean that there would not be prior action if evidence were developed competent to lay before a grand jury or a court.

Besides that issued for Mr. Fall, a subpoena also went out for J. W. Zevely, personal friend and counsel for Mr. Sinclair, who is now in New Orleans. He is expected to appear also on Friday and will be questioned about the loans of Liberty bonds and stock which G. D. Wahlberg, Sinclair's private secretary, testified yesterday had been made to him by the oil magnate.

ONE DEAD FROM TRICHINOSIS

Rochester, Jan. 22. — One is dead, three are reported dying and three are seriously ill here today, all victims of trichinosis from eating improperly cooked pork. All the victims are members of the same family. The health department has issued warnings to the people to eat only well cooked pork meats.

The Day in Washington

The house military committee began hearings on the Muscle Shoals problem.

Albert B. Fall was subpoenaed to appear again, before the senate Tea Pot Dome investigating committee and the committee also announced its desire to hear Harry F. Sinclair as soon as possible.

Edward W. Bok offered to donate his $100,000 prize prize offer for the best plan selected by the senate committee which questioned him, and Chairman Norris in reply criticized him for failing to answer certain questions.

President Coolidge gave his endorsement to the North Carolina bill for government loans to southwestern farmers for live stock raising.

CAPTAIN AND TWO OPERATORS DEAD

Killed in Accident to Tacoma, Washed on Reef Off Vera Cruz Port

Washington, Jan. 22. — Death of Captain Herbert G. Sparrow of the wrecked cruiser Tacoma at Vera Cruz, and two radio operators of the ship, due to an accident aboard the Tacoma during a norther, was reported to the state department tonight in a cable message from Consul Wood at Vera Cruz.

Consul Wood's message, which was sent from Vera Cruz at 2 p. m. today, was made public by the naval department as follows:

"I am profoundly distressed to announce the death of the captain of the U. S. S. Tacoma and also of two radio operators through an accident on board the ship during a norther while in performance of duty. Particulars will follow."

Reports Another Death

(By the Associated Press)
Vera Cruz, by radio. Via Dallas News, Jan. 22. — Captain Sparrow, one officer and two telegraphers of the U. S. S. cruiser Tacoma were killed in the storm which swept this region Sunday and Monday. After the Tacoma went onto the reef, Captain Sparrow and 19 men remained aboard. The wind made it necessary to withdraw the crew which was working to get the Tacoma off the reef.

GERMAN GOLD BANK MAY BE ORGANIZED

Balancing of Budget Also Deemed Necessary to Stabilization of Finance

(By the Associated Press)

Paris, Jan. 22. — The expert committee which is under the chairmanship of Brigadier General Charles G. Dawes and which is dealing with the German budget, today took the most important step yet made toward a settlement of the reparation question, in the opinion of the reparation commission. This was when the committee decided to report in favor of establishing a German gold bank as the first essential to stabilization of German money and balancing the German budget.

Great significance is attached to the fact that the committee announced the establishment of the bank was referred to Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, president of the Reichsbank, who gave it his approval. This is taken as justifying the assumption that the German banker and the experts are in accord on this point, at least. The experts tonight were still reluctant as to the decision reached, because the details remain to be worked out, but satisfaction over this early agreement on one of the vital points of the problem was apparent on the faces of the delegates as they came out of the council room.

MINERS WILL SEEK 4-YEAR CONTRACTS

Lewis Advocates Such Action in Report — Makes No Mention of Increases

(By the Associated Press)

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 22. — Renewal of the existing miners' wage contract with the operators for a term of four years, was the prospect placed before delegates at the 29th convention of the United Mine Workers of America at its opening session today.

Delivering his report, President John L. Lewis omitted any mention of an increase, but declared for a wage agreement for a term of years.

"I am not in favor of a suspension of production," he said, "this would be of constructive help in restoring stability to the industry, and would indeed be a boon to the coal-wearer public."

This pronouncement, according to some of President Lewis' advisers, indicates that an effort will be made to close a contract for a term of four years or more, instead of from year to year, as at present. The operators, it was said, have declared their opposition to contract obligating them for four years, or even three years. A majority of them, it is believed, would consent to a renewal for two years but many are for nothing more than a contract for a year.

"WHISTLING LYP" HEARING

Plattsburg, Jan. 22. — "Whistling Lyp" Hutchins, of Ashton, Idaho, woman dog team driver has not been reported since she left Elkhartsville last night en route to this city from Port Henry with a dog team. It was learned tonight, Miss Hutchins, who is bound for the winter months at Elkhartsville, made a brief stop at Elkhartsville about 10 o'clock last night, where she said she planned to continue on to Plattsburg by the way of Middletown, Pa., which is considerably shorter than the state highway. The temperature had fallen to 25 degrees below zero and the wind was blowing heavily at the time. Radio stations in this city and Plattsburg were broadcasting her disappearance tonight to help locate the woman.

LENINE, RUSSIAN SOVIET PREMIER, DIES SUDDENLY

Was Leading Spirit in Overthrow of Kerensky Regime—Even Political Opponents Declare Event Saddens Nation—End Came Unexpectedly

ALWAYS A REVOLUTIONIST

Served Prison Term and Sentenced to Siberia—Read Karl Marx in Secret Fear of Discovery—Had Tremendous Effect on World

(By the Associated Press.)

Moscow, Jan. 22. — Nikolai Lenine, Russia's great Bolshevik leader, died suddenly last evening at his country villa in the village of Gorky, 20 miles from Moscow. The public announcement of the premier's death was withheld until the all-Russian Soviet congress met this morning, and only tonight did the wires carry to all corners of the Soviet federation word of the event, which even Lenine's political opponents declare saddens the nation.

In the interest of science, an autopsy was performed this afternoon by eleven doctors, including the German specialist, Prof. Forster. It was disclosed, according to the official bulletin, marked changes in the blood vessels of the brain were found, and fresh ruptures of these vessels, which were the direct cause of death.

The death certificate was signed by four professors, four doctors, and Health Commissaire Semashko.

Another official bulletin, not signed, but dated the Kremlin, says that the all-Russian congress of Soviets "will take steps in the near future to secure the work of the government without interruption, the Soviet power standing firm guard over the conquests of the revolution."

Had Been Recovering From Illness

Lenine's death, which the official announcement said, was entirely unexpected, in view of recent improvement shown in his condition, comes at a time when party differences are being aired, and when the other Soviet leader, best known internationally, Leon Trotsky, is ill, and for reasons of health out of state affairs temporarily.

The government is arranging for an impressive funeral at Moscow Saturday. Even before the public generally knew of the death, arrangements for a great ceremony were completed. There will be national mourning for the head of the Bolsheviks and, meanwhile, party differences will be submerged.

Nikolai Lenine, lawyer, pamphleteer, and finally dictator of all Russia, was the organizer and chief exponent of the movement which became known as Bolshevism, and which he characterized as "the great experiment: the dictatorship of the proletariat."

The career of this short, plump, bald-headed little man, who turned Russia topsy turvy and probably as much in the world as any other man of his century, was full of adventure from his boyhood. He was a revolutionary at school, at the academy, at his university, and ever afterward.

Lenine's real name was Vladimir Ilich Ulianoff. He was born April 22, 1870, in the town of Simbirsk, of a bourgeois family with a pronounced Tartar strain, reflected in Lenine's high cheek bones and slightly slanting, cynical eyes. His father was responsible master at a communal school at Simbirsk and was very well known among the school teachers of his district. Lenine himself attended the high school at Simbirsk, and by a strange coincidence his principal, the father of Alexander Kerensky, whom Lenine afterward overthrew to become premier of Russia.

Read Marxist Literature Secretly

The spirit of revolution smoldered in the czar entered into practically every Russian school in those days, and Lenine, with some of his companions, is said to have smuggled the works of Karl Marx on social justice into the school and to have read them with all the secret fear of discovery that such a thing entailed.

With a climate now hidden, he had their geography. As Kerensky reported that Lenine was a very studious pupil, introspective in his thoughts and shy in his relations with his schoolmates. When Lenine was 17 his eldest brother, Alexander Ilich, was sentenced to death and hanging for an attempt upon the life of Czar Alexander III, which was organized by a terrorist organization of which he was a prominent member.

Lenine himself never was a member.

FRANKLIN TEACHINGS SAFE GUIDE FOR ANY NATION

By S. W. Stuenkel, President American Society for Thrift

It is an encouraging sign of right thinking that such widespread popular attention is being given just now to the anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin.

As the years go by more and more thoughtful attention is being paid to this superman of colonial days, more ardent homage is paid to his memory, and a deeper understanding is gained of the truths he taught.

Among the great men of American history Franklin stands out as the personification of that group of kindly virtues of which thrift is the center. Any nation which attains a general consciousness of the truths of life philosophy will prosper because of the flourishing home life and clean morals of its citizens.

The Franklin philosophy is nothing more than the most simple logic, yet in this fact there is a lesson for all of us. In this modern life of ours with the practical annihilation of distance and with every day bringing new triumphs of science, we are becoming more complex.

But the truths of life are simple. Humanity never can get away from fundamentals. The plain axioms of Poor Richard will live through the ages.

Our standards of living will continue to progress. Fifty years from now life will be quite different from what it is today insofar as life's conveniences, comforts and advantages go. But the upbuilding effect of the honest virtues remains as unchanged as the mountains or the sea.

Among the many inspiring signs of the times no other is more indicative of a sound public attitude than the widespread attention now being given in the United States to the anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin.

FOREIGN AND HOME MISSIONARY WORK

JUNIOR PROJECT WORK

Outline of Plans for 1935 as Announced by County Club Agents.

The Junior Extension Service for

Ontario county, has announced a series of projects for the current year, embracing cattle, pig, sheep, poultry, rabbit, potato, garden, small fruit, corn and canning. The clothing and food projects (exclusive of canning) have already been organized, which leaves the only remaining one in which girls may enroll for home making, though they may also enroll for any other of the listed projects. The boy or girl enrolling should mail forward the completion of the project, and those doing this will receive the four-leaf clover pin and a certificate of achievement. In live stock projects the requirements are based on the age of animals; in poultry, rabbit and agricultural products, Class A includes competitors of 19 and 11 years, Class B of 12 to 15 years and Class C of 16 to 19 years.

Dairy Projects.

Calf Project—Class A requires feeding and management of heifer calf with specified records for at least six months. Pure-bred animals preferred but grade will be accepted.

Project leads to Class B when calf is one year old. Is called Ontario Calf club. Class C includes care of heifer during first lactation period with full records. This is the Cow and Calf club.

Pig Project—Class A requires care of one or more purebred sow pigs for at least six months, and Class B the care of one or more purebred gilts and offspring for at least six months.

Sheep Project—Three classes. Class

A includes care of one or more purebred ewe lambs for period of one year, together with specified records.

Class B, one or more yearling ewes and offspring for ten to 12 months.

Class C, the keeping of four or more ewes for 12 months commencing November 1. In all classes specified records must be kept.

Poultry Project—Three classes. For each class a specified number of fowls is required, with details as to management, number, age, cost production, etc. The Rabbit project also has three classes with specified records.

Garden Projects—Three classes with cultivation of 100 hills, one cabbage and one acre respectively.

Garden Projects—Class A has area of 250 square feet, Class B of at least 1,000 square feet. Suggestions will be given in bulletin as to what vegetables to plant, and if teacher wishes to act

There was two feet of snow on the ground yesterday and with the rise in temperature and the heavy fall of rain a serious flood was threatened. Cessation of the storm and a drop in temperature stopped the trouble.

The following ticket has been presented by the nominating committee of the Oneonta club: President, Henry

Saunders; first vice president, A. E.

Ford; second vice president, C. L.

Nearing; secretary and treasurer, A.

H. W. Sheldon; additional members of board of governors, C. M. Wright, D.

F. Keyes, L. H. Townsend, A. W. Carr,

L. C. Gurney and L. P. Butts.

H. W. Sheldon has closed out his livery business to Charles Sheldon.

Business is so dull on the D. & H.

that many men are being laid off.

One brakeman on each train has been taken off, as well as one coach from each train.

A new telephone company has been organized, called the Adelphecompany, of which Dr. G. S. Olin is president; D. B. Cornell, vice president; Guy Smith, secretary and treasurer, and Perry Skinner, general superintendent.

Last evening a number of our stu-

LOCAL MENTION

—The Red Cross work room will be open this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

—Dr. Augustin, the city health officer, has moved his office from the Oneonta hotel building to 145 Chestnut street, corner of Chestnut and Academy streets.

—Five babies were brought to the Red Cross baby clinic yesterday afternoon at the Community house. All five were cases which had previously been in attendance upon the clinic, and are being kept under observation by Dr. House, the physician in charge.

—With ice rapidly forming, officials of the Oneonta Ice and Fuel company are feeling more optimistic toward the situation. The company has had its harvesting equipment at Goodyear lake in readiness for some weeks and cutting operations will start as soon as a sufficient thickness of ice is secured.

—A large number of the younger generation enjoyed the excellent skating in Neukawa park yesterday afternoon. The ice, as a result of Monday's severe temperature, was several inches thick and fairly smooth, and Tuesday's gradually rising thermometer was all that remained necessary to bring the skaters out of retirement.

—The midwinter dance to be held at the Oneonta club on Friday evening of this week will be a masquerade affair and all are requested to come masked. Simple costumes will be worn, and the music will be furnished by the Spolyn's Syncopators will furnish the music and have arranged a special program for the occasion.

—The speaker of the day at the Kiwanis club dinner today at the Elks club will be Daniel Chase, head of the bureau of physical education in the State Education department at Albany, and president of the Albany Kiwanis club. Mr. Chase is a resident in his line of work and his address is certain to be both interesting and inspiring.

—The meeting of directors of the local Y. M. C. A. announced for this evening has been postponed, due to the inability of a number of the men to be present, and will be held, instead, on Tuesday evening, January 23, at 7:30 o'clock, in the Association rooms. The directors are asked to keep this date open, as the meeting is of considerable importance.

TO DISCUSS CHAMBER DRIVE.

Membership Committee Dinner Meeting Friday Evening.

A representative body of men, including committees from the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, will meet at the Elks club, on Friday evening of this week, for a dinner and to make final plans for the drive for members of the Chamber of Commerce, which will begin on Tuesday of next week.

The executive committee of the Membership Committee—Owen C. Becker, I. J. Bookhout and B. C. Lauren, report favorable indications from all over the city. There seems to be no question of the desire of the citizens of Oneonta to maintain the organization that has given such a good account of itself.

Secretary Hicks has prepared a brief outline of the many activities that have been handled during his term of office, which is being printed and will be mailed to citizens during this week. The publication is entitled "Oneonta Progress" and contains much of interest and information.

Meetings Today.

Regular meeting Veteran Firemen this evening at 8 o'clock.

Regular meeting of W. B. A. O. T. M. in Odd Fellows' hall at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

BOY SCOUT COUNCIL FORMED

Local Oneonta Council for Oneonta and Schoharie Counties formed, organization perfected at Tuesday's meeting.

The definite organization of a first class Council of the Boy Scouts of America for the counties of Oneonta and Schoharie was effected at a meeting of the members for this purpose yesterday afternoon in the Municipal building, each of the three districts going to make up the council, with Oneonta, Schoharie and Cooperstown as their respective centers, being well represented.

After reports from the executive committee of all three districts had been submitted, showing that funds were already secured to cover the necessary budget for the first year's work of the new organization, the following executive committee was unanimously elected.

President—Geo. H. Carley of Cooperstown.

Vice-president in charge of Administration—Chas. J. Deans of Oneonta.

Vice-president in charge of the Court of Honor—Judge U. G. Welch of Edinburg.

Vice-president in charge of Scout training—Rev. L. H. Brady of Middleburgh.

Treasurer—L. H. Atwell of Oneonta.

Commissioner—Lester Berger of Richmondville.

Chairman of Finance—E. Vedder, Jr., of Schoharie.

Chairman of Camp—M. E. Lippitt of Cooperstown.

Chairman of Publicity—W. S. Marland of Otego.

Chairman of Training—L. Guy Leonard of Cobleskill.

Chairman of Civic Service—J. G. Hoyt of Oneonta.

Chairman of Troop Organization—Senator A. J. Bloomfield of Richfield Springs.

The executive committee of the Council, in addition to the above men, includes the chairman of the three districts going to make up their organization. M. G. Keenan of Oneonta, Everett Rockefeller of Schoharie, and George Tunncliffe of Richfield Springs.

The court of honor for the Council includes, besides Judge Welch, Judge Dow Beekman of Middleburgh, S. D. Haight of Milford, Leon Van Cote of Unadilla, and Lester Berger, the new commissioner.

It might be added that the Council will include, in addition to the above named executive committee and court of honor a Council-at-Large, one member of which is to be elected by each Scout troop in the two counties, as its representative. This gives every troop in the jurisdiction of the council a voice in its affairs.

An application for a charter as a first class Council will be forwarded at once to National Scout headquarters, and upon receipt of the Charter President Carley is to call the executive committee together to consider the matter of selecting a Scout executive. It is confidently expected that the executive will be chosen and in the field within the next few weeks, after which time the new organization is expected to speedily demonstrate its worth.

TEN PICKED MUSICIANS

Stromship Orchestra which will play at State Armory Saturday 24.

The greatest dance attraction on the road will arrive to please the critical Oneonta dance public when Paul Whitman's "Steamship" orchestra takes the stage at the state armory January 26, all residents in the full dress white uniforms which the men wear on Uncle Sam's monster ship, the "Leviathan."

Oneonta will be visited by a four weeks' tour being made by this wonderful organization which Keith Pitman has organized and led and has finally taken off the great boot which has been their home since July 4, when the monster palace of the seas made it maiden trip.

Ten picked musicians, the pride of the Whitman office with the pick of all the special arrangements which the Whitman dance library affords, reinforced by special quartets, sextets and many singing features arranged by Mr. Pitman, can and will put over an enjoyable evening's entertainment both for dance devotees and for those who love to listen to dance music as especially prepared and played today. While still on the Leviathan but on shore leave in New York this orchestra made several records which have been very well received.

The committee of the Oneonta Public Park and Playground association which is arranging for this dance reports that the tickets are selling fast and that a record attendance is expected. Arrangements have been made for a special car to run to Cooperstown following the dance.

A Graciously Response.

The "A" reports a gratifying response to yesterday's announcement regarding the prospective formation of a checker club. There are doubtless a number of others interested in this proposition, and if they will make it a point to send in their names at once to Mr. Brown, the club will be organized without delay. Every checker fan is wanted and will be welcome.

MURDER CHAMBER

The value of a Chamber of Commerce in any city or town cannot be measured or fully appreciated by any individual until that individual is admitted with the organization.

Here in Oneonta, as well as in other towns and cities, where a live, energetic Chamber of Commerce is maintained, results are achieved as a whole.

The growth and prosperity of the town are materially aided by the efforts of the Chamber. The stronger the effort, the greater the result, and I believe every business man and woman should become a part of this important organization.

Co-operation in every line of endeavor is today recognized as invaluable. To my mind, the Oneonta Chamber of Commerce is the organization through which we should cooperate for the upbuilding and improvement of our community.

There are many topics which can be most profitably considered as discussed by an independent body, such as the Chamber of Commerce. Such a discussion is a sure aid to the formation of public opinion.

I personally, highly value the privilege of being associated with the Oneonta Chamber of Commerce, which stands for a "Better Oneonta."

MISS RILEY INJURED

Former Oneonta Young Lady in California Hospital as Result of Bad Fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur J. Riley of 163 Elgin street received word yesterday that their daughter, Miss Ruth Riley, a dental hygienist in the schools of Long Branch, California, had met with a serious accident and is now in the Pasadena hospital. Her injuries are painful, but it is believed, are not serious.

The letter states that on Sunday, January 13, Miss Riley, with several friends, was tramping in the hills of Southern California and was coming down a ridge of Lookout Mountain when she slipped and fell a distance estimated at over one hundred feet, whether down a cliff or down a precipitous incline the letter does not state.

It took the party over two hours to draw Miss Riley to the point where they were located. She was rushed to the Pasadena hospital where it was found that she was suffering from a fractured ankle and from cuts and bruises extending from her head to her feet. It is considered almost miraculous that she was not killed.

Miss Riley is a native of this city and a graduate of the Oneonta High school, the Oneonta Normal school and Columbia university. She was employed last year as dental hygienist in the office of Dr. C. S. Maylis and during that period helped conduct dental clinics for school children in the Community house. Last year her work as dental hygienist for the New York State Dental association took her into many different parts of the state where she became well known and made many friends, who, with her many Oneonta friends, will sympathize with her in her misfortune.

REV. DR. FLYNN TO SPEAK

At Susquehanna, Pa., on Thursday Evening at Dedication Services.

In connection with the dedication services of the new Methodist Episcopal church at Susquehanna, Pa., this week, Rev. Dr. Flynn, pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of this city, is to deliver an address on Thursday evening. The exercises commenced last evening, on which occasion Rev. D. Stanley Shaw, D. D., of the Tabernacle church at Elmhurst was the speaker. This evening a concert by local talent, assisted by visitors, will be given. On Friday evening an inspirational address will be given by Rev. H. S. Godshall, district superintendent of the Oneonta district, with short addresses by former pastors.

Sunday is to be dedication day with sermon by Bishop J. F. Berry of the Philadelphia area at 10:30 o'clock, with dedication exercises to follow. At 6:30 o'clock that evening Dr. Godshall will address a young people's rally and at 7:30 o'clock Bishop Berry will be the speaker at a Congregational and Community rally.

Rev. H. W. Thomas, former pastor of the church at Fortlandville, is the pastor of the church at Susquehanna and under his inspiring leadership the church has a new high tide in the very center of the city completed at a cost of $15,000. Numerous friends of Rev. Mr. Thomas in this section are planning to attend some of the dedicatory exercises.

Work of the Bureau.

The January Regents' examinations, which began on Monday, continue for three more days, closing Friday afternoon. In addition to the usual work, there will be venerable certificate examinations for rural school teachers. Those for today will be on school law and English for teachers this morning, and school management and nature study in the afternoon. The following are the regular school examinations:

Mandatory Examinations.

Morning—Elementary algebra, plane geometry, bookkeeping 2, psychology and elementary mechanical drawing. Afternoon—History, course A and course B, plane trigonometry, descriptive geometry, typewriting, intermediate drawing.

Preliminary.

Morning—Geography. Afternoon—Elementary United States history.

Men of St. James' Meet Tonight.

There will be a meeting of the men of St. James' parish, with music, in the confirmation of the parish house tonight at 8 o'clock for the purpose of forming a men's club. No singing but to individuals and it is hoped that every man connected with the parish will be present, or not. Light refreshments will be served.

REMARKS BY THE AMERICAN

Newly Arrived Business in Oneonta. Anna Cate Winslow, Agent of Western—Held the Grand Jury.

Karrington, Jan. 21. — State Troopers acting under instructions from Captain D. E. Fox of Troop C of the State Police placed the wife of Salvatore Ramanetto under arrest in connection with the burning of the buildings on the farm owned by her husband and others and on the farm of H. K. MacLary in this town. She was taken before Justice Bramley at Delhi and arraigned and was held for the grand jury. No disclosures were made as to the reasons for her arrest. It is assumed that she is needed as a witness in the case, although these are rumors that she was conversant with the plan to burn the buildings that the insurance upon them might be secured.

There have been no bonds presented in behalf of any of the three individuals who have now been taken into custody in connection with this crime and it is believed that should application be made that suitable bonds would be fixed, which would assure their presence when the matter comes before the grand jury.

Stronigian Murder Rumors.

While no definite statements can be secured there are persistent rumors that before the case is ended that something will be disclosed which may solve the mystery surrounding the Stronigian murder here several years ago.

It is hinted that an effort was made to blackmail Stronigian before his murder by certain parties then residing in the township and that he was murdered because of his refusal to pay money to those who sought to secure it. The officials persist in declaring that they see no connection between the crimes and that no evidence has come into their possession tending to indicate any foundation for the rumors prevailing. Some reports are to the effect that the widow of the murdered man knows more than has been disclosed about the circumstances surrounding the death of Stronigian but that her lips have been sealed by threats that her life will be jeopardized if she makes any statements which might incriminate anyone.

If the county officials or others are in possession of any information along the lines suggested they are carefully concealing it from the public.

MAY PRESENT FASHION SHOW.

Proposed Made By Mrs. H. M. Addison to American Legion Here.

Mrs. H. M. Addison, wife of the former manager of the Oneonta theatre, who some years since presented a very successful Fashion Show at the theatre here and who since becoming a resident of Birmingham has conducted several in that city, was in Oneonta yesterday interviewing officers of the American Legion relative to bringing the settings and features of the show to be produced there this spring, to Oneonta and present a similar feature here for the benefit of the Legion. The matter is to be taken under advisement. There can be no question that Mrs. Addison will present a fine show with many special features in view favorable action is taken here.

A FEW REASONS

Why You Should Become A Member of

ONEONTA AUTOMOBILE CLUB

Because it assists in obtaining fair laws and ordinances for you.
Because it aids in securing good roads for you.
Because it sends out signs to show you the way, and warns you of dangerous places.
Because it aids in prosecuting anyone who steals your car or anything from it.
Because it makes you a member of the New York State Automobile Association.
Because it furnishes you with touring information in any point.
Because it gives you each month's copy of "Motordom," containing road information, proposed legislation, and other matters of interest to motorists.
Because it gives you reduced rates on auto publications and on the official Road Book.
Because it keeps up the interest in automobilism.
Because it costs but a small amount annually and saves you many times that amount.
Because you should not wish to enjoy the benefits secured by your fellow motorists, such as fair legislation, good roads, road signs, etc., etc., and not stand your share.
These are a few reasons; the Secretary can give you more.

Figures in Strange Case

This is Mrs. Helen J. French, 22-year-old daughter of a New York City, who has begun a suit for $1,000,000 damages in New York supreme court. One of the defendants in the case is her own mother. She alleges she was drugged, spirited away and forcibly detained, all part of an alleged "plot" to force her "into silence." Her mother and others involved deny all charges.

TALE OF TWO MOTORISTS

Effort of Unadilla Practical Joker to Turn Tables on Friend Fails.

At least one young man in the village of Unadilla, so the story comes to us, has taken the solemn oath of "never again," as a result of the outcome of a recent attempt on his part to play a practical joke on one of his friends, who had already had a little fun at his expense.

The young man in question had decided to show his "best girl" the time of her life by taking her to the movie, and in order to make it a real party he called for the young lady in his car, although the distance involved was not ordinarily considered outside of the walking limit.

While the two were enjoying the picture the friend already mentioned, discovering the car, decided to render it temporarily "hors de combat," and accordingly shot off the gasoline supply, between vacuum tank and carburetor. In due time the owner of the car appeared, and leaned heavily on the starter, so heavily indeed that a wrench should have been used, and the struggle, all without accomplishing the desired result of starting the car. He next got out the crank, with no better success, and finally abandoned the car in disgust, leaving word at a local garage to have the car towed in next day and given a thorough overhauling.

Naturally the joke was too good to keep, and every one had a good laugh over it, including both the joker and the jokee.

A couple of weeks later, the second young man took his car out for a little exercise, and he, too, decided to take in the picture show, leaving his car outside. Whereupon our friend of the earlier episode saw a golden chance to even up the score, and climbing into his friend's car he drove it away and placed it in his friend's garage. The latter came out of the picture show to find his car missing, apparently stolen, so a hue and cry was immediately raised to locate the stolen car, and even the State Troopers were called in on the case. As usual when the Troopers are involved, the mystery soon ceased to be a mystery, the missing car was located, and although the perpetrator of the joke stoutly insisted that it was simply an innocent prank, the millions of the law failed to see the funny side of the case, and the young man was fined $5, and admonished, in future, "watch his step."

The question is "When is a joke not a joke?" The answer is "When you fail to get away with it."

He who gets too much, or too quickly, knows not how to eat. He who drinks Klumpke coffee knows he has the very best of coffee.

Mrs. John T. Curry Dies

Deceased Hartwick Woman Passes Away Monday — Sister of Oncontia Man.

Hartwick, Jan. 22. — Mrs. John T. Curry, an esteemed resident of Hartwick, died at her home in the village Monday evening at 9 o'clock, from the effects of a shock which she suffered about three weeks ago.

The deceased was born in the town of Hartwick on December 18, 1857, the daughter of George and Eleanor (Ladler) Lough. About 40 years ago she was united in marriage to John T. Curry. For forty years they resided on a farm near Hartwick, moving into the village a few years ago.

Surviving are her husband; two daughters, Mrs. Ralph Potter and Mrs. Charles K. Harrington, both of Hartwick; a sister, Mrs. Albert Bradley of Hartwick; and three brothers, William and Robert Lough of Hartwick, and George Lough of Oncontia.

Mrs. Curry was a member of the Hartwick Christian church, of the Rebekah lodge and of the Lady Macabees. She was active in all these organizations and was a woman who was held in high esteem in Hartwick.

The funeral will be held on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Rev. Albert Loucks officiating. Interment in the Hartwick cemetery.

THOROUGH HOUSECLEANING

STANDARD IN UNITED STATES REPUTATION. MANY MORE ALIENS ARE ADMITTED.

Chairman Albert Johnson of the House Committee on Immigration and Naturalization, Monday morning, Jan. 22, 1924, in his opening address to the committee, said: "The House Committee on Immigration and Naturalization, in a forthcoming issue of the 'Outlook,' makes the following comments upon the immigration problem, which will serve to attract public attention to the importance of the questions raised:

New York, Jan. 22. — Albert Johnson, chairman of the house committee on immigration, in a forthcoming issue of the "Outlook," makes the following comments upon the immigration problem, which will serve to attract public attention to the importance of the questions raised:

After years of study, including investigations in lands across the Atlantic and lands across the Pacific, the majority of the members of the House Committee on Immigration, are, I believe, of the opinion that mankind is literally at the crossroads. The distresses of the peoples of the world, white, black and yellow, are so many and the increase in the birth rate in all countries except France and Mexico is so great that the probabilities are that our own children will resent the fact that we have not been more successful in passing more stringent immigration restrictive acts. Our grandchildren will, fifty or sixty years from now, in all probability, be scratching hard for a foothold and food in the United States of America—the past land of boasted riches and untold resources.

I believe that the majority of the people of the United States, including even those of alien birth, have come to a very firm conclusion with respect to immigration. They think, and the majority of the house committee on immigration and naturalization agrees, I believe, that—

1. Immigrants shall never again come to the United States as mere commodities in the labor scheme.

2. That the name melting-pot is a misnomer and that the asylum idea is played out forever.

3. That the countries of the world shall no longer dump upon the United States their criminals, their feeble, their aged, and their undesirable.

4. That if we are to clean house and provide those guarantees for every last alien now within our borders, each one of whom is included in those magnificent words which begin the first sentence of the preamble to the constitution, "We, the people of the United States," that we should, as far as possible, admit the husbands or wives, minor unmarried children, fathers and mothers, and even grandfathers and grandmothers, of those aliens now here, but decline to admit other dependents in any number under any quota scheme from any country; as a matter of fact, eighty-five per cent of all immigrants who have come to the United States in the past ten years have come to relatives, and for the last fiscal year ninety-eight per cent of all immigrants who come from Poland came to relatives, nearly all supplied with money furnished by these relatives; and although a very large number started without money and arrived without money, they were able within three weeks to find money to send for more relatives.

5. That in order to prevent the accompanying religious differences, it is highly desirable to keep out from the United States as many new arrivals as possible until we have thoroughly cleaned house.

6. That the United States should not continue to admit for permanent residence within its borders those who are, under the law, ineligible to citizenship, and that sooner or later the United States must amend its constitution so as to deny citizenship to those born here whose parents were ineligible to citizenship.

Lenin's principal promoter at the moment was the German government. With the German government of 1918, who opposed what they termed a disastrous peace, Lenin sought a through his plan. The strategy existing intervention between Russia and Germany, and after a few months of the Russian regime, Lenin had signed the treaty of Brest-Litovsk and was definitely out of the world conflict.

Internally, Russia was torn by civil war. Factories were taken over by the workers, great armies were organized by the government, and the army was divided into two parts. The aristocracy sought any kind of safety it could find. And the middle-class or bourgeoisie, because of their objects for the better of the masses, free trade was abolished and in its stead was established a system of government control that rationed food, placed the workmen in preferred classes, and set out little or none of money was condemned, and grain, manufactured products and labor became the chief medium of exchange.

Admits Failure of Policies

Four long dismal years passed during which internal counter revolution, in many cases assisted by allied intervention, kept Russia in a constant turmoil. Enemies of the Communists assassinated some Bolshevik leaders, and in September, 1918, Lenin himself was shot and severely wounded. Plots and counter plots, terror and counter terror, swept Russia from one end to the other and the bloodshed, misery and famine of those four black years have no counterpart in modern history. Through all of this period Lenin, backed by the solid, strictly disciplining communistic party directed affairs.

In 1921, when the Soviet government had swept aside all military opposition, and when Russia was practically intact in communist hands, except for Poland, Finland and the Baltic provinces, which broke off an independent republic, Lenin turned his hands to the task of building up the Russia the revolution had destroyed. To achieve this reconstruction, Lenin, with the daring that characterized all of his major plans, began what he called a strategic retreat from Communism. A communist to come, he said, but the active communist as practiced during the period of the civil war had never been intended as permanent. It was purely a war measure, and so in an epochal speech, delivered in November, 1921, Lenin publicly announced the failure of that policy, and explained the need for an economic departure. "We met with a bad defeat, and have undertaken a strategic retreat," he admitted. "Before they have thrashed us definitely, let us retreat and construct everything over again, but more solidly." He proposed at least a partial reestablishment of capitalism, the introduction of a concession to free trade, the imposition of taxes on land, and the acceptance of outside aid for the millions of starving Russians.

Lenin Halts Retreat

It was the great peasant class and the workers who were the backbone of the revolution in Russia and calling upon

Internally, Russia was torn by civil war. Factories were taken over by the workers, great armies were organized by the government, and the army was divided into two parts. The aristocracy sought any kind of safety it could find. And the middle-class or bourgeoisie, because of their objects for the better of the masses, free trade was abolished and in its stead was established a system of government control that rationed food, placed the workmen in preferred classes, and set out little or none of money was condemned, and grain, manufactured products and labor became the chief medium of exchange.

Admits Failure of Policies

Four long dismal years passed during which internal counter revolution, in many cases assisted by allied intervention, kept Russia in a constant turmoil. Enemies of the Communists assassinated some Bolshevik leaders, and in September, 1918, Lenin himself was shot and severely wounded. Plots and counter plots, terror and counter terror, swept Russia from one end to the other and the bloodshed, misery and famine of those four black years have no counterpart in modern history. Through all of this period Lenin, backed by the solid, strictly disciplining communistic party directed affairs.

In 1921, when the Soviet government had swept aside all military opposition, and when Russia was practically intact in communist hands, except for Poland, Finland and the Baltic provinces, which broke off an independent republic, Lenin turned his hands to the task of building up the Russia the revolution had destroyed. To achieve this reconstruction, Lenin, with the daring that characterized all of his major plans, began what he called a strategic retreat from Communism. A communist to come, he said, but the active communist as practiced during the period of the civil war had never been intended as permanent. It was purely a war measure, and so in an epochal speech, delivered in November, 1921, Lenin publicly announced the failure of that policy, and explained the need for an economic departure. "We met with a bad defeat, and have undertaken a strategic retreat," he admitted. "Before they have thrashed us definitely, let us retreat and construct everything over again, but more solidly." He proposed at least a partial reestablishment of capitalism, the introduction of a concession to free trade, the imposition of taxes on land, and the acceptance of outside aid for the millions of starving Russians.

Norway Geese Turn Up

Brooch of Viking Era

Bergen, Norway.—In the province of Rogaland a small boy set to tend a flock of geese had driven his charges to the edge of a small pond. Here the geese splashed and roared about, unheeding a magnificent brooch of gold, dating from Viking era. The relic was taken to the Staranger museum where the curator said the brooch is one of the finest examples of Viking goldsmiths' art yet discovered.

Public Health Service

to Study Common Cold

Washington.—A detailed study of common colds is to be made by the public health service in co-operation with a number of the country's leading universities. Dr. Hugh S. Cummings, surgeon general, says colds, influenza and similar conditions are responsible for a great deal of suffering, loss of time, disability and a not inconsiderable number of deaths.

He says there are few, if any, individuals who do not suffer from some acute respiratory condition at least once a year, losing from a day to a week or more as a result, and such attacks develop into more serious conditions, at times even a latent pulmonary tuberculosis being lighted up.

Comparatively little is definitely known as to the real causes, distribution, manner of spread and epidemiology of these so-called minor respiratory ailments. Doctor Cummings says, and this detailed study being undertaken is expected to be of value in attempting to prevent these ailments.

The work will be actively undertaken at Harvard university, Johns Hopkins Medical school, Georgetown and Howard universities, Washington; Tulane university, New Orleans; Ohio State university, University of Chicago and University of California. It is anticipated the studies will extend over two or three years.

Buick cars drive through a third member, not the springs. The springs only support the body and assure easy riding. A Buick rear spring accidentally broken cannot misalign the axle and prevent driving the car. The Buick axle remains in fixed position. Consequently the adjustment of Buick four-wheel brakes is not affected by the deflection of the springs.

Easy Lessons in AUCTION BRIDGE
New Series
Copyright 1923 by HOWARD J.

ARTICLE No. 7

In studying the play of the hands, there is one thing of more value than the so-called "end play." The good player can determine the location of the last few cards in every hand and the proper way to play these few remaining cards constitutes end play. You don't need card sense to understand end plays. All you need is observation and the faculty of remembering the cards as played. Even without the natural aptitude for Auction that some players possess, you can acquire a good working knowledge of the game if you have the necessary grit and determination to improve.

The good player frequently makes plays that seem necessary to the less experienced player but they are really not so wonderful. A good player is on the alert from the play of the first card and every play tells him something. By the time only a few cards remain to be played he knows every one, and if there is a way to gain a trick he can figure it out. Such results of observation, card memory, deduction and deduction are necessary to the average player but they are really within reach of all.

In trying for and playing, be sure of your deductions before trying for the extra trick. For example, never risk the loss of a game or of your contract to gain the extra trick. First make sure of game and then take the chance. You can never acquire the knack without trying. Constant practice and correct deductions give the best results in Auction as in everything else.

The following are examples of the ordinary end plays that come up day after day:

Hand No. 1
Diamonds — 5
Clubs — K, 7

Diamonds — 1
Clubs — J, 4

Diamonds — 4
Spades — A, 9

Spades are trumps and Y leads the king of clubs. B trumps with the ten of spades and Z must not over-trump but should discard his losing diamond. This refusal to over-trump comes up very frequently and should be carefully studied.

Hand No. 2
Hearts — 7, 5
Diamonds — K, 7

Hearts — 10
Spades — A, 10, 9

Spades are trumps and Z leads the six of hearts, which B wins with the ace. He must lead the diamond and Z should refuse to trump, knowing that A has something but trumps left and therefore must trump and lead up to Z's queen of spades. This play comes up very frequently and should be thoroughly understood.

Hand No. 3
Diamonds — 5
Clubs — Q, 10

Spades — 10, 9, 8

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. He knows that all the remaining trumps are in A's hand so should lead the five of spades. A must win the trick and lead up to the ace jack in Z's hand. If Z plays the ace and five of spades, A will win two tricks. This is another end play that comes up in many games of Auction.

Hand No. 4
Diamonds — 8, 7, 5, 4
Clubs — 6

Diamonds — 9, 2
Clubs — J, 7, 5

Diamonds — K, Q, J, 9
Spades — K

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. He leads the king of spades and takes out B's last trump. He will not win another trick but if he does not take out B's last trump, he is sure to win three tricks. It is a play that comes up when your opponents have a set up and the top card of your suit. Under such conditions retain at least one trump in your own hand to regain the lead. In this example Z gains two tricks by refusing to lead the winning trump.

Hand No. 5
Clubs — 4, 2
Diamonds — K, 9, 4

Clubs — 10, 9, 7
Diamonds — 7, 3

Clubs — A, 6, 5
Diamonds — 6
Spades — 5

Spades are trumps and Z is in the lead. The only way for him to win four of the five tricks is to lead the losing trump. B must win the trick and lead clubs, which Z wins with the ace and leads the six of diamonds. Y now wins the next three tricks.

Hand No. 6
Clubs — J
Diamonds — 6, 5

Diamonds — 10, 8
Spades — J

Diamonds — K, J, 4

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. To win two of the three tricks, he must lead the losing spade, which A wins with the jack. A must now lead the diamonds up to the ace queen in Z's hand. This example illustrates one of the most common of end plays, throwing the lead to force the lead up to a tenace. Study these examples carefully for they are all common situations that arise every time you play. Be on the lookout for them.

Hand No. 7
Clubs — 4, 2
Diamonds — K, 9, 4

Clubs — 10, 9, 7
Diamonds — 7, 3

Clubs — A, 6, 5
Diamonds — 6
Spades — 5

There are no trumps and Z is in the lead. To win two of the three tricks, he must lead the losing spade, which A wins with the jack. A must now lead the diamonds up to the ace queen in Z's hand. This example illustrates one of the most common of end plays, throwing the lead to force the lead up to a tenace. Study these examples carefully for they are all common situations that arise every time you play. Be on the lookout for them.

MODIFIED STATE PARK SYSTEM

URGENT UPON LEGISLATURE IN SPECIAL MESSAGE BY GOV. SMITH.

Won't Secure Adequate Recreational Centers for Future — State Roads Needed Through or Near Some of the Proposed Parks — Watkins Glen Recreation Completed — Thurston Park in Heideberg Being Improved.

Albany, Jan. 22. — Legislative action which "will insure a united state park system in a measure adequate for the New York of the future" is sought by Governor Smith in his special park message, submitted to the legislature today. Encouraging progress has been made, he points out, in developing the state park policy inaugurated last year, but additional details which would make for extension of the system are touched upon in today's communication.

The passage of a bill which would create a state park council to act as a "coordinating, planning and estimating agency" for all of the present and proposed state parks is the most needed feature of this year's program. This council, he explains, would be composed of the heads of the larger parks and park organizations, and would officially carry on the work now unofficially done by the park committee of the New York State association.

In another recommendation he asks that the legislature adopt, when it is introduced, the conservation fund bill designed to set up a fund out of partial receipts from hunting licenses, with which to purchase land and streams for hunting and fishing purposes. The bill was passed last year, he notes, but was vetoed, due to a technical defect not discovered until after the close of the session. He also recommends the passage of a bill yet to be introduced, intended to enable the conservation commission to purchase forest preserve lands out of receipts from the sale of timber cut down in connection with river regulating districts.

State Roads in Parks.
Development of state roads through or near some of the proposed park sites is strongly recommended by the governor. It was added that the state superintendent of public works has already asked that these roads be incorporated as part of the county highway system. Mentioned in particular are roads into Allegany park in southwestern New York state, Letchworth park in the western part, the Taconic park region at Copake Falls, in southeastern New York, and over Tongue mountain at Lake George, in the northeastern section of the state.

Other Recommendations.
Other recommendations contained in the message include:

Passage of a bill creating a regional Long Island State Park commission in place of the present Fire Island commission.

Adoption of a measure abolishing the Bronx Parkway commission, to take effect when the parkway is completed, probably about January 1, 1925.

Consideration of creating a single regional Finger Lakes Park commission in place of the present two state park commissions of that section, the head of each a commission to be represented on the State Park council.

In reviewing the history of the state's park system, the governor explains the use of appropriations made last year for the first work on the new park program. Additional facilities have been provided for Palisades park, he states, while 15,000 additional acres have been contracted for in the Allegany park area; excellent sites have been obtained along the Niagara river so as to extend the Niagara State reservation to Lakes Erie and Ontario; additional camping and other facilities have been acquired at Letchworth park; and three of the finest scenic areas of the Finger Lakes region are being taken over, one of them through the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Treman of Ithaca.

Projects Completed.

The message also reports completion of the Watkins Glen reservation; progress in acquiring rights of way for extension of the Bronx parkway from the Kensico dam to the Bear mountain bridge now under construction at Peekskill; and extension made possible at the state reservation and nursery at Stratton Springs. A start has been made, the message recalls, on the proposed tri-state park in the Taconic mountain region, by the gift of a parcel of land by Francis R. Masters.

Gifts of land received at Lake George include a large portion of Prospect mountain, at the southern end of the lake, from George Foster Peabody, and part of the Tongue mountain peninsula from Mrs. Stephen Loring. Other purchases will soon be made at Tongue mountain, and also at the Lake George battlefield site, at the south end of the lake. John Boyd Thacher park in the Heideberg mountains near Albany is also being improved.

In concluding his message, the governor asserted that "by adopting this program you will insure a unified state park system in a measure adequate for the great population of the New York of the future."

AGRICAPHS

Good feed, proper care, help biddy treat the farmer fair.

Ice water isn't relished by the cow, and she shows it in the milk pail.

Uncle Ab says there are too many national authorities on too many national questions.

It isn't the looks of red clover seed that counts—be sure you know where it was grown.

When the farmer buys stock he might better make it Westcott than stock in a concern he knows nothing about.

Building the new building on paper this winter may save money when you come to build it of lumber next summer.

Callers—"What a cute little baby. What is he saying?" Perplexed Father—"I don't know. His mother has the code book."—(Boston Transcript)

Whittier-Tough Native Dies.

Wenona, N. J., Jan. 22. — Major Clayton Snyder, superintendent of the New York military academy, died at his home last night. He was 63 years old and had been ill for the past year.

Major Snyder was born in Middleburgh, N. Y. He was graduated from Union college, Schenectady, in 1899, and the Albany State Normal school in 1901.

And Adair's attempt. Without success, but with credit and good cheer, could have met of their class.
